“Web cleaning easily solves dust and particle problems”

– The tissue industry is not particularly clean by nature. With high amounts of cutting and slitting taking place in most plants, it comes as no surprise that one of the biggest problems that printing machinery operators face is dust and particle contamination on the materials. The problem will be solved using Kelva web cleaning systems.

– Modern printing equipment requires regular cleaning to ensure that dust and particles are cleaned from the machine. With a cleaner sheet, the number of washes will be reduced. This in turn increases the endurance of printing plates and reduces the amount cleaning solvents used. Good for operating costs and good for the environment.
